COPS, TRAILING 'BUM,' KILL FIEND

Story on Page Six

MURDER GRAVE OPENED.

By order of Senator Simpson, the grave of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, slain choir singer, was opened yesterday at New Brunswick, and body will be removed today for autopsy to determine if her tongue was cut by slayers. Body of Dr. Hall, slain with Mrs. Mills, will also be disinterred in Brooklyn. (Photo Graphic.)

IS MILLS AFRAID OF N. Y. MILK?

Thousands of mothers have discontinued use of milk since Ogden L. Mills, Republican candidate for governor, circulated reports of impure milk. But Mills himself is still drinking New York milk, judging from photo above, taken early today, which shows milkman making delivery at Mills's home. (Photo Graphic.)

GIRL'S ATTACKER KILLED.
